

83 The Path Of The Cross Our Homeward Way

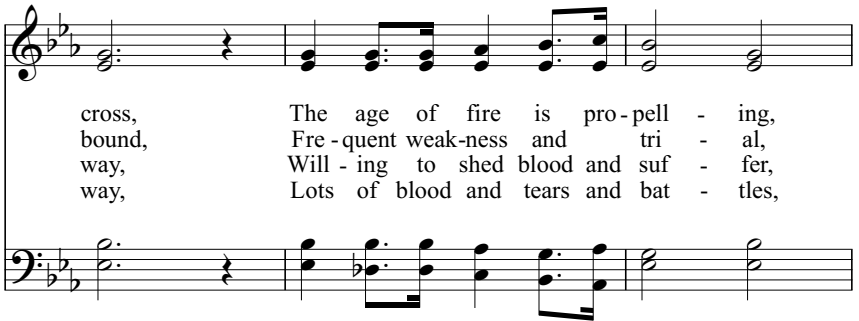

十架歸路

趙西門

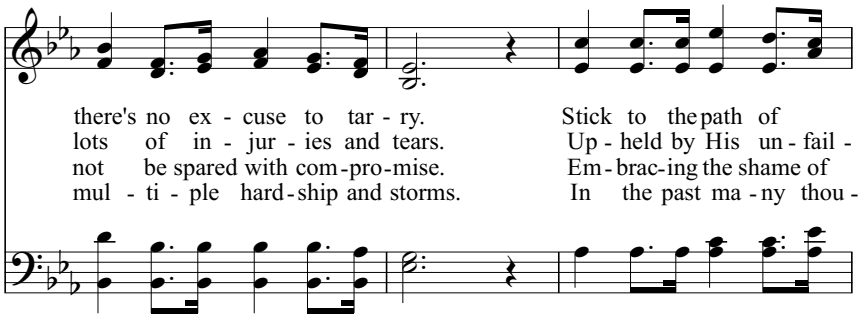

John R. Sweney

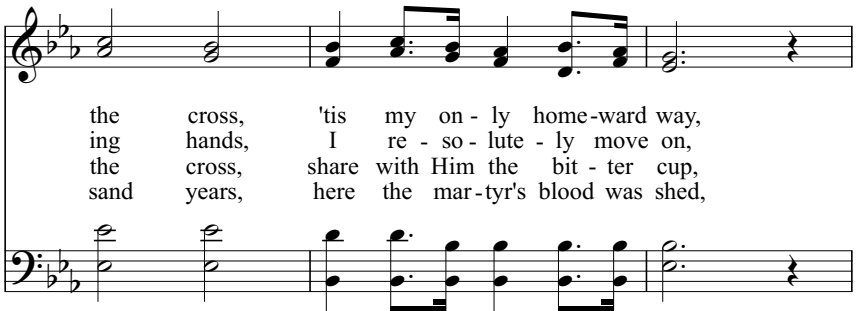

1. I have a pass-ion-ate long - ing for the path of the
2. This home-ward path of the cross, pain and dis-tress a -
3. My choice is the path of the cross, not the wide and eas - y
4. The home-ward jour-ney of the cross, is a long and drear-y cross, The age of fire is pro-pell - ing, bound, Fre-quent weak-ness and tri - al, way, Will - ing to shed blood and suf - fer, way, Lots of blood and tears and bat - tles, there's no ex - cuse to tar - ry. Stick to the path of lots of in - jur - ies and tears. Up - held by His un - fail - not be spared with com-pro-mise. Em-brac-ing the shame of mul - ti - ple hard-ship and storms. In the past ma - ny thou - the cross, 'tis my on - ly home-ward way, ing hands, I re - so - lute - ly move on, the cross, share with Him the bit - ter cup, sand years, here the mar-tyr's blood was shed,

Stick to the path of the cross, 'tis my on - ly home-ward Up - held by His un - fail - ing hands, I re - so - lute - ly move Em-brac-ing the shame of the cross, share with Him the bit - ter In the past ma - ny thou - sand years, here the mar-tyr's blood was

Refrain

way.
 on.
 cup.
 shed.

Fol - low Christ to Geth-sem - a - - ne, fol - low Him to Cal - va - ry, Till I en-ter e - tern - it - y, no more dark-ness, cloud and pain.